A spiritual gift (chárisma) is defined as:

A spiritual gift is an extraordinary power, distinguishing certain Christians and enabling them to serve the Church of Christ, the reception of which is due to the power of divine grace operating in their souls by the Holy Spirit.

Thayer, New Testament Lexicon

The Gifts of the Spirit

A spiritual gift is any ability that is empowered by the Holy Spirit and used in any ministry of the church.

This broad definition includes both gifts that are related to natural abilities (such as teaching, showing mercy, or administration) and gifts that seem to be more “miraculous” and less related to natural abilities (such as prophecy, healing, or distinguishing between spirits).

Wayne Grudem, Systematic Theology

The Gifts of the Spirit

Spiritual gifts are not God bestowing to His people something external to Himself. They are not some tangible “stuff” or substance separable from God. Spiritual gifts are nothing less than God Himself in us, energizing our souls, imparting revelation to our minds, infusing power in our wills and working His sovereign and gracious purposes through us.
